IN THE NEW GAME BY TTT GAMES

BLACK & WHITE

Black & White is the newest release from TTT Games, Mascot Gaming's instant games division, expanding its portfolio of fast-session products built around simple controls and high-impact decision loops. The title reinterprets a classic dice concept through a two-zone system focused on balance, timing, and player control.

At the center of the game is a single field divided into two dynamic zones: black and white. These zones are controlled via a central slider. Before each round, the player adjusts the slider to define the size of each zone, directly shaping the probability distribution for the outcome.

Once the configuration is set, the round resolves based on the selected balance between the two zones. Larger zones increase hit probability, while smaller zones increase the multiplier attached to a successful result, creating a direct trade-off between safety and potential payout.

Progression continues through Instant Autoplay, which allows multiple rounds to run automatically using predefined settings.

Alongside the core loop, players progress through a rank system that advances with betting activity. Each rank unlocks new customization options and avatars, allowing adjustments to visual elements of the play area.

The visual style is built around a strict black-and-white contrast that mirrors the core mechanic. A minimalistic interface approach, consistent with most TTT Games releases, keeps the focus on core interaction. The game field is reduced to essential components: the slider, the two zones, and immediate feedback on changes in balance.

Fly High has a very approachable core, while the variety of gameplay elements keeps the experience dynamic throughout the session.

It's the kind of instant game that feels destined to become a hit thanks to its atmosphere and long-term engagement potential for operators.

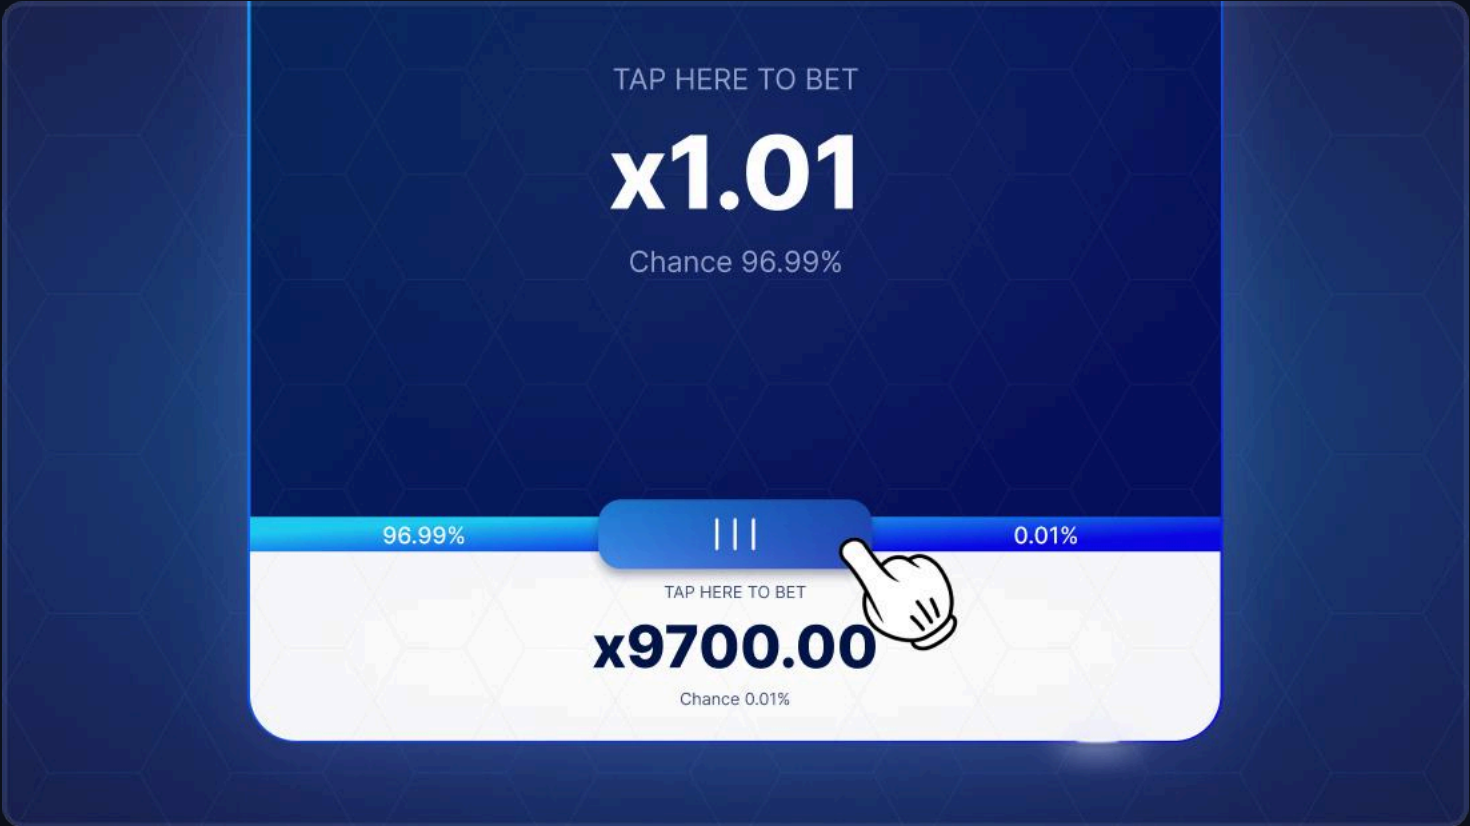

FEATURES

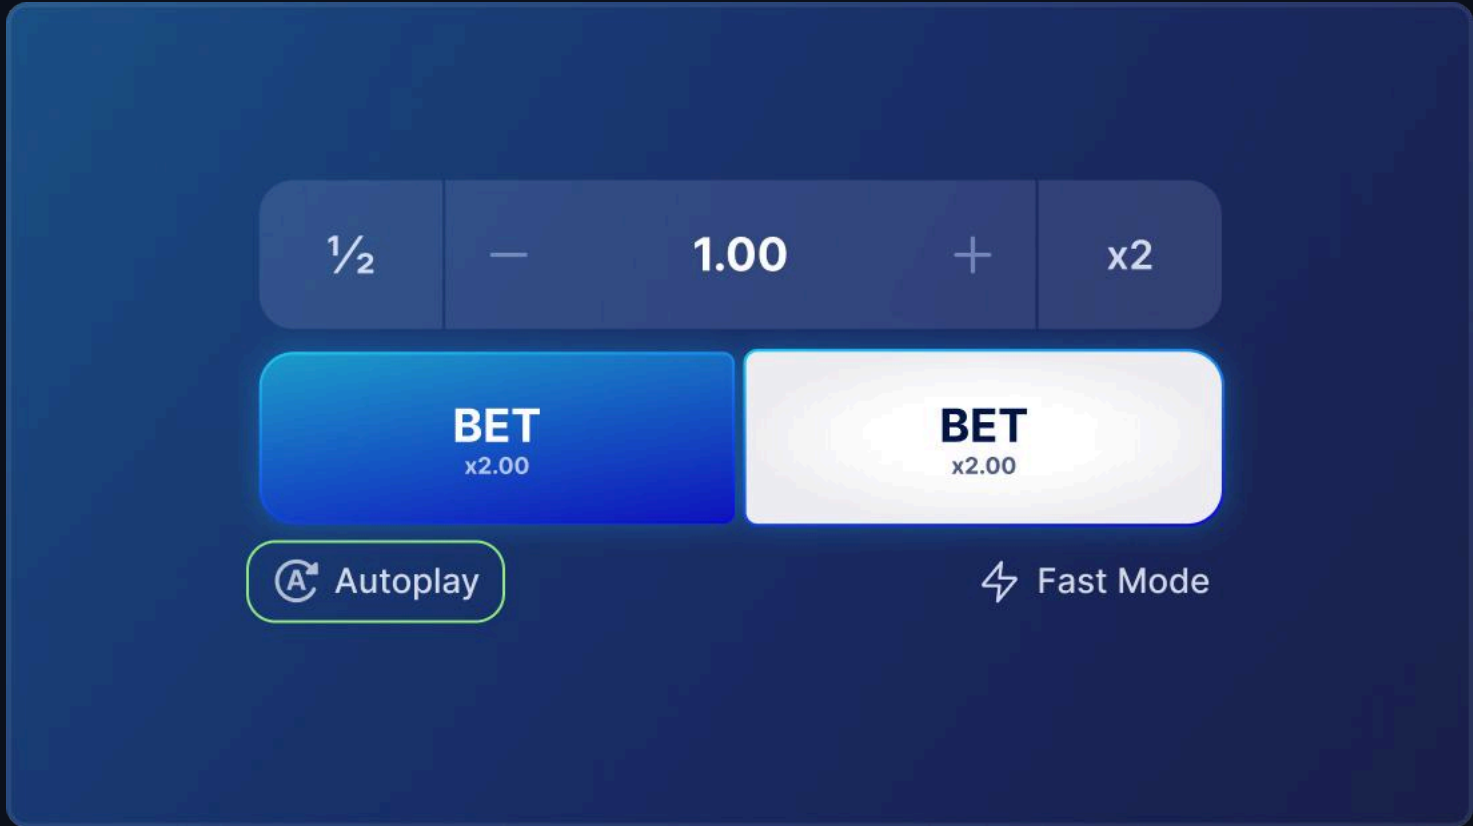

Dice Reimagined

A fresh take on the classic dice genre. Instead of a numerical range, the entire game field is split into two zones — black and white — that you control with a single slider.

Zone Selection

Players adjust the size of each zone using the slider directly on the game field. The smaller the zone, the higher its multiplier.

Instant Autoplay

Rapidly simulates multiplie rounds using predefined settings, allowing players to experience high-volume play in seconds.

Ranks & customization

By placing bets, players advance through ranks, unlocking new customization elements and avatars.
